

The 49th Kenai Peninsula Wilderness Jamboree

Tucked away at Spirit Lake, on the peaceful grounds of the Salamatof Shareholder's Park, the 49th Kenai Peninsula Wilderness Jamboree brings together tradition, community, and just enough wilderness to remind us who we are. It's close enough to town to grab what you forgot, but far enough out to leave the noise behind.

Over the years, the Jamboree has taken many forms—rain or shine, big or small—but its heart has always remained the same: a place to connect, reflect, and celebrate the journey. This year, we honor that legacy with the theme “The Dubious Path”—a nod to both the 49th page of the Big Book and our place here in Alaska, the 49th state. The path isn't always straight, and it's rarely simple, but it's ours to walk, together.

We don't know exactly what this weekend will hold. Maybe laughter by the lake. Maybe a quiet conversation that sticks with you. Maybe just a little more light than you came with. Whatever it is, we're glad you're here for it.
